booksQ: WPF Change header when the row changes on the underlying datagrid? I have a datagrid where certain rows have a specific color. I want the header for that to be a certain color when the row is the correct color. I can do this manually in the RowStyle but as you can see in the image the changes are not instant because the initial drawing has to be done. Is there any way to do this, and have it change instantaneously as the row changes?

A: Override the CellEditingTemplate and CellTemplate and set their DataTrigger property to the color you want.

A (c), the device 2 with the patch electrode 43a of the positive polarity having the smoothed film-like portion 44a is charged so that the capacitor portion 44 of the device 2 with the smoothed film-like portion 44a has a voltage  $V+$  higher than the voltage of the device 2 with the patch electrode 43b of the negative polarity. FIG. 43C is an SEM photograph illustrating a part of the device 2 in FIG. 43B after immersing the device in an etching solution. FIG. 43D is a photograph illustrating the etching performed on the device 2 in FIG. 43B. As illustrated in FIG. 43A through 43D, in the etching process in which the positive polarity device 2 is immersed in the etching solution to etch a portion for forming the wiring pattern, the polarity of the device 2 is switched so that the device with the smoothed film-like portion 44a, i.e., the positive polarity device 2, is reversely charged (FIG. 43A and FIG. 43B), and the device with the patch electrode 43b of the negative polarity and the portion formed in the wiring pattern of the device 2 with the patch electrode 43b is reversely charged (FIG. 43A and FIG. 43B). As a result, while the reversely charged device 2 with the smoothed film-like 3da54e8ca3
