Portable AllDup Download [Mac/Win]

The portable version of AllDup is an intuitive file management application that comes packed with a powerful search engine for helping you find and remove file duplicates. Since this is the portable version of the program, you can copy it on any USB flash drive or any other devices, and take it with you whenever you want to scan a computer for file duplicates. Plus, it doesn't leave any traces in the Windows Registry. It sports a clean and straightforward interface that offers direct access to many customizable search options. The application simplifies the entire selection process by displaying the folders and hard drive partitions stored on your computer directly in the primary panel. The search process can be carried out in terms of name, extension, size, content, last modified date, attributes and creation date. Furthermore, you can exclude characters and time stamps, ID3 tags of MP3 files, EXIF information of JPEGs, as well as compare a data block at the end of the file. Portable AllDup bundles more search parameters that enable the application to show file attributes, the owner name and hard link at the end of the task, scan the contents of ZIP and RAR archives, ignore 0-byte folders, exclude files by size, as well as set up user-defined file and folder filters. Other useful features that are worth mentioning are: a preview panel which comes in handy if you want to analyze two items, and a log which contains details about the entire search process and possible errors. During our testing we have noticed that the scanning process doesn't take too much time, and the results are rendered in a dedicated panel which offers a lot of configuration settings to tinker with. Compared to the primary window, this one seems overwhelming and crowded at a first glance. Nevertheless, you can rely on the small tooltips to give you details about each dedicated parameter. The search results can be exported to plain text or CSV or printed, and you can also group them by file name without extension, path, duplicate number, size and last modified date. In conclusion, Portable AllDup comprises many useful features for helping your perform searches for duplicate files by different criteria. Portable AllDup

Flexible file scanner with built-in search engine for Windows. Portable AllDup Screenshot Portable AllDup Review: User Review Portable AllDup Review Better than many free apps It's not all just copies and pastes (which are always a pain to recover), and it's not all just a search tool. The name says it all — AllDup is a truly portable file manager for Windows. You can carry it with you, plug it into a USB drive, and use it to search for and remove file duplicates. It scans for file duplicates by size, extension, path, and last modified date. But it does more. Supports Unicode file names and file extensions, and it runs on any Windows version from XP to Windows 10. This is a very handy thing to know, since Windows 8 throws a lot of search errors when you search for duplicate files by extension, like.txt or.css, but you can search for file duplicates by extension in Windows 10 or any later version. In addition, it supports ZIP and RAR archives, and it can preview the contents of those archives, even though they're not supported by the built-in archive managers, like Windows Explorer. It's got quite a few search features, and they're arranged in a simple and easy-to-use interface. It supports searches by name, extension, size, content, last modified date, attributes, and ID3 tags. The file size is an important parameter, because you don't want to remove the same file twice. It can detect duplicates by size, and it can exclude files by size. You can also use search parameters to exclude directories, characters, time stamps, and system files. It's handy to use, and it can be configured by you. As you probably know, file duplicates are a pain in the backside, and you can't forget them. If you've ever tried to search for files by extension in your Windows Explorer, you'll see that most search engines stop there. They usually don't give you all the information you need to come up with the solution. Instead, you have to search for the name of the file, or you have to paste it in the Find window and search it there, or
