ActiTIME Crack + Torrent (Activation Code) Download [March-2022]

actiTIME is a web-based and streamlined tool designed for project managers. It facilitates a user-friendly working environment and puts at their disposal intuitive and practical tools for time tracking. This is a free edition that allows access for a limited number of users. You can also check out actiTIME Small Team Edition and actiTIME Extended. Customizable setup The installation procedure takes a while to finish unwrapping everything. Before doing so, however, you can select the database platform to work with, between Microsoft Access and MySQL. The setup wizard is able to either create a new database or to copy data from an existing one. What's more, you can indicate the IP address and port number to use. Log into actiTIME and create a new database Once the installer is over, you can log into actiTIME via a web browser using the default user name and password displayed here. It is highly recommended to change these credentials immediately afterward for security purposes. After this step, you can directly launch the app with an empty database or review two demos. So, you can configure general settings, create billing types and tasks to report time for, as well as put together accounts for other users. The web interface is clean and intuitive, having all these aforementioned modules neatly organized in separate areas. Configure general options, billing and leave types, logo and color scheme General settings revolve around time-track hierarchy levels, time report, time-track of other users, leave time, control of overtime and undertime, time estimates, user groups, reporting, formats (calendar and time, time zone, numbers, currency), email (mail server, message parameters, error processing), along with notifications. Billing types can be studied when it comes to their status and rate. Moreover, you can set any of them as default, change their order in the list, and delete any entries. The same rules apply to the leave types too (sick leave, time off, vacation). Plus, the logo and color scheme may be customized. Create new users and manage departments The first step you have to take is building a list with users, in order to assign them to projects and assign the projects to clients. New users can be created with a user name, password, access type (enabled or disabled), contact information, department, time zone, workday duration, overtime tracking mode (enabled or disabled), hourly rates, and access rights (time-track submission, reporting, task hierarchy management)
