In Runewards, you have three races to choose from. Each race has its unique Heroes, Units, Abilities, Spells and mechanics. Initially, only Mercenaries are available. Later, we will allow you to play as Dwarves and Goblins in the land of Tir Na Nog. Each deck you construct will have its unique attributes. Each card has its own Power value. Whoever has the most Power at the end of the Round is the winner. Each move in the round can play or lose you the match. You can play as the Human - the greatest race, or you can choose to play as one of the other races. You can play campaign with the Human Race. The Campaign allows you to experience the story of the Runewards and the Runeseeker, experience more in depth special abilities and mechanics of the other races. Units: Card you place on the Runestone to protect. Each unit has a Power value that increase by the time you play it. The higher the value, the more effective the unit. As the game progresses, more and more units will become available to the player. We will evolve and add many more units in the coming months. Heroes: Character you play as, each with unique abilities, attacks and strengths. Each Hero has its own role that can be filled by a number of different heroes. Your heroes will range in power from the low level characters to the mighty ones. In Runewards, it is wise to select good Heroes to protect your units and position them right in the middle of the battlefield. Spells: Powerful unique abilities available only to one race. In Runewards, they will reduce the opponent Power by a certain amount. The Race you choose to play will determine which race gets access to these cards. Idea behind Spells, in Runewards: The idea behind Runes is to create a unique experience. Each race has its own unique Runes. The Runes help you separate each race from the others and create different and unique decks. About The Game Mechanics: There are seven different kinds of abilities available in Runewards. -Move abilities - This kind of abilities will move a unit in the battlefield. -Attack abilities - These give you the ability to attack an enemy unit directly, such as a spell card or attacks in an attack deck. -Debuff ability - This ability will reduce an enemy cards Power, such as by magic or battle effects.

The first part of the game is played in the town where you meet Selwa in the beginning of the game and leads to the second stage. There is an underground passage with a labyrinthine gallery - an entrance to the Catmaze, which connects it to the underground catacombs. In the Catmaze, for the first time in the game, you can find a full-featured RPG system. You can use the points and train your character by making him. Every skill can be enhanced by 1 to 5. In addition to the random encounters with monsters, you can fight them in several modes - if you have the most suitable weapon for the enemy, he will be destroyed. If you have good stats, they will be enhanced and if you have good skills, the character will improve. You can use a number of different weapons: bows, catapults, flintlocks, magic wands, throwing knives, axes, staves etc. The characters in the game are numerous - Selwa, the mouse, his pet Helga and two familiars - Croc, a crocodile, and Snaggle, a demon who often appears on Snaggle tooth. In addition to all these creatures of mythical beasts and mythological attributes, you will find many of the characters from different Slavic tales that can be downloaded in the game. The game takes place in Slavic myths and legends and the story unfolds on the territory of many different countries in Europe. In the game you can play on the territory of 11 countries in Europe, including Poland, Germany, Czech, Slovakia, Hungary, Austria, Ukraine, Belarus, Russia and Lithuania. There are 9 worlds and in the game there is a lot of interaction with the environment and in all the worlds you can interact with characters and towns with quests. In addition to the game, there is an interesting world map that is a sort of a map of the world. At your feet, you see the Catmaze, the world of mythical beasts and monsters. The map allows you to view the full realm of the game in a 3D.

Vagabond: In the game Vagabond, you play a character - Bob - from the Middle Ages. In this game, Bob is not as brave as other adventurers. He is a simple vagabond, he has no money and it is not possible to rent a castle. He can solve quests in a small village or

: The Mother of All Cocktails The Thanksgiving Cocktail That's Got It All by Erik Ehlen If I could make any alcoholic beverage the mother of all cocktails, it would be the G&T. It would have the best possible ingredients — vodka, gin, and sweet vermouth. My hope is that every cocktailer knows this drink. But here's the thing. I'd love to put a turntable in my refrigerator and play all the mixologists all day to get their feedback. I am sure that they'd want to mix more G&Ts with more interesting ingredients. Is there such a thing as too much vermouth? Of course. But much of the debate is subjective. I love Gin & Tonic with a gin from my favorite distillery at their best on a warm summer night in Helsinki. Quite often, with a typical gin in this country, you get a subtle, interesting, and delicious tonic. So I went about collecting my own. I was disappointed to discover a $6.00 bottle of American tonic. Can you imagine that? No big deal, I thought. I was thinking, well if you want to mix a gin & tonic the right way use a real gimlet, some seltzer, fresh lime, and orange peel! If you can get a bottle for $6, I guess that's a fine price for soda. I also wanted lime, but this didn't make sense. "If you want lime, make your own damn lime," I heard in my head. It seemed that in this recipe, Gin + Tonic would have to be the mother. So, I just went about making a gin of the highest quality, selecting my favorite juniper, and playing around with sweet and dry vermouths. I made eaux de vie from all kinds of citrus and from my own smoky birch syrup. I thought that this could be our first Julekomme. Three cheers! It turned out better than any of us expected. Dream Stone: A Modern G&T Make Ginger Gin Not to be kept in a general store with bargain gin...First, collect your ingredients. The average 1-2-year-old, freshly picked gin should be full of fruit, so go ahead and pick your favorite mix. Then look into some fresh fruits of your liking. Pick

Out of Ammo is a short intensive tactics/strategy game. It is built around the mechanics of room scale VR and the positional tracking of the HTC Vive controllers. You will direct your team of six unique fighters (who are controlled by your fingers, not triggers) to eliminate hundreds of enemy units by strategically placing and placing them in the best position. The use of weapon abilities and buffs depend on where you position your soldiers, as well as their relative distances, directions and heights. Rendering Out of Ammo in VR: A key part of how Out of Ammo is rendered is with the use of an infinite and fast rendering solution to handle the large amounts of data and update rates of room scale VR. Immediate Rendering (Minimal CPU Load): Relatively lightweight, Out of Ammo uses a technique that creates a projection renderer. This technique is best suited to create and render realtime 3D scenes of a very large size. Vsync is added automatically to stop double frames rendering: To prevent the swapping of content in a VR experience, Out of Ammo uses a technique that automatically adds a vertical sync to the game rendering. Oculus Rift Support: Out of Ammo can be played with 3 of the most common VR Controllers (Passthrough, Touch). Oculus Touch support is experimental and requires that your graphics card be a certain version or newer and that you have version 0.39b of SteamVR driver installed. For optimal performance and a significantly lower CPU load, use one of the following controllers. The Touch Controller Pro Controls- Enduras, Sphere, Dual Fingers, Touchpad: The Touch Controller (Passive) Controls- Knuckles, Spheres, Dual Fingers, Touchpad: The Vive Controller Controls- Dual Fingers, Touchpad:
