EZSfx

EZSfx is an archive and executable builder designed for ease of use and functionality. When a .EXE application or Visual Basic module that is created using Visual Basic 6.0 or greater is compiled to create an EZSfx executable, Visual Basic code can now be saved and distributed with minimal effort. The Visual Basic script will run a .exe which also runs the Visual Basic application, creating a seamless functionality allowing you to start the application and continue as normal. EZSfx offers further functionality by automatically extracting the files from the archive without the need to run setup.exe or clean-up.exe manually. An optional zip guide can also be used if so required. Please note: By using this tool, you agree to the following: 1. Have an EZSfx Installer key on your PC or Network.

2. The resulting executable and installation should not be removed, or the license key changed in any way. 3. EZSfx is created for Visual Studio 6.0 and above only. 4. This is a free tool provided for informational purposes only. 5. This tool should be used for creating extension tools. 6. EZSfx is not the same as VB EZ Extract. EZSfx will automatically extract files from an EZSfx archive, thus removing the need for you to run setup.exe. You will just need to click on the EZSfx executable to launch the software. 7. EZSfx allows for the creation of Visual Basic applications which can be distributed on their own or integrated with the applications you currently have installed on your PC. 8. EZSfx is never meant for people without an EZSfx license key to redistribute a free product. 9. EZSfx will not remove files from any Windows folders, unless requested. EZSfx is created by [Zygote] and is provided as is. All content and source is provided free for our users. Zygoté is not responsible for any legal actions taken by users of this application.
