According to Kyle Harrington of the Buffalo News, the Bills have signed WR Laurent Robinson. Robinson, 26, played parts of two seasons with the Dallas Cowboys, but was let go prior to the start of the 2012 season. He played four years at the University of Oregon and had a long list of injuries including a broken tibia/fibula that forced him to miss the first six games of the 2012 season. Now he's looking to make his way onto an NFL roster, and if all goes well he's got a chance to make Buffalo's 53-man roster, especially with the way he performed at the Bills rookie camp. In some of the drills today, Robinson was the first one of the receiver group to catch the ball, as seen in the video below. We'll have more details on the signing as they become available. Q: creating a new record with embedded select query I have the table `t_role` where the column `Type` is a enum, it has 3 possible values: `MR`, `RN` and `MR-RN` I want to store the data in another table `t_role_role` where the `Role` column is a reference to the table `t_role` and the column `Role_Type` is a field of the enum type. When creating a new record, the select query of the reference column "Role" must be an INNER JOIN with the column "Role Type" in order to choose the type of the new role from the field of the enum type, and I want to create a view that holds the data. I have tried:
