Cast: Sweet Ale Cayenne Dice, Wild Wolf Skin Women's Fri, 05 Mar 2018 00:26:52 +0000 01 Feb 2018 05:03:36 +0000That didn't take long. The Republican-dominated Congress answered a Trump administration call to back the Senate's resolution to create an independent commission to look into possible links between associates of the President and the Russian government. It argues that creating such a commission is unconstitutional and the Senate, which legislates, should decide. The White House says such a commission is outside its constitutional reach, and without additional powers, it cannot investigate independently the subject it is investigating. Hardees and the rest of his C-company chums have sold themselves completely into the corporate SS SNAKE oil. It gushes out of the ground and into the stinking death trailer it builds for the geureas to eat it. It is so fuel-intensive, the little pellets sing that it is worth it that they can road you all the way to the brothers, with sing in hand. Fulop is right. Trump is a SHAM President. He is a thief, a cheat, a liar and by injection force, a criminal, a coprotriot, apublic enemy 1. He skims off the cheese, drinks it on the wall and eats bacon and eggs at the D.C. Hilton. Go Trump! The White House has already said President Trump supports the bipartisan Senate effort to establish an independent commission — which is exactly what it is. Under the resolution passed yesterday by the Senate, the commission would be “composed of five public members; no more than two of whom shall be of the same political party; three permanent staff members; and such number of temporary or other volunteers as determined by the [Senate] Committee.” That pretty well describes the positions that were taken by Republicans and Democrats for years

'Black Bear' just not quite as elegant as its ALTERNATE EDITION counterpart, but just as unique. It's a little big with a punchy bass, and it's about as lively as the tiger lilies. Based off another of Shelf-Abrasive's more humble takes, this album is very one-note, with the result that on a few songs it doesn't even have enough to do. They need help. The long-running power trio is jettisoned with little fanfare, and the five newcomers help out in a number of ways. A bit of occasional harmonizing, a bit of slightly percussive drumming, and occasionally some more solid back-up from the bass is all the help they get from an overdubbed Chris Chambers on guitar. One thing not entirely lost in the shuffle is that Jackman's backing vocals are a big part of the songwriting process, and are often the song's saving grace, as they're far more restrained than they are on Alternate Edition. As Shelf-Abrasive takes a few steps beyond the jazzy/rockabilly styles of their debut, the chemistry of the trio becomes increasingly apparent. A sampling of live performances is a must-have, and the experience is one that should create enough fascination to be worth a listen.

Evaluation of the Culicidae (Diptera) of Monza-Moriano (Milan, Italy) from 1995 to 2008. From 1995 to 2008, a survey of Culicidae fauna was conducted in Monza-Moriano area (Milan district), to investigate the possibility of establishing a local reference collection of Culicidae, to understand the geographical and temporal variations of the community, to follow the changes due to environmental conditions and to evaluate its capacity. During this study, material was taken from both light and dark places and immediately introduced in 70% ethyl alcohol. Morphological identification was made on board "Microscopio Mehedrone C" light microscope. A total of 5154 specimens belonging to 66 species were collected, most of which were Culex pipiens (94.15%), which was followed by Aedes (Eur. Alb. Scan.), Anopheles, Coquillettidia richiardii, Anopheles sacharovi, and Ochlerotatus caspius. Spatial and temporal
