Is there a way I can have the link post on a blank page and instead of posting to a 404 page, post to a page that says that the site didn't exist? I was trying something like this: But that didn't work. A: Since you have a script that checks for a domain and then redirects to that domain based on a check, it's as simple as just redirecting the request to that script. There are many ways to do that. One way would be:
