Pro 100 V4.2.5 DownloadQ: Regex to extract pattern data for groups I am looking for a way to extract the amount of time for a particular date. The format for the date is always (1899-12-31), except that I have specific cases where it will be (1899-12-31) 00:00:00. So what I need to do is get the time part from the date and put it into a char * string. Here is an example of how the data looks: 1899-12-31 00:00:00. 1900-01-01 00:00:00. So it can vary in size by 20 seconds, or it can be two digits or a fractional value. I'm having trouble figuring out how to write the regex for this. Any help would be appreciated.

A: This will extract the time part for any of the formats you specified (including your examples):
`\b(?:[0-9]{4}\-[0-9]{2}\-[0-9]{2})\s*([0-9]{2}[:]?)\s+([0-9]{1,2}[.]?[0-9]{2})` See it here on Regexpr. You can read more about how the regex groups here. I used two ways of specifying your formats, and according to your examples and comments, it appears that for the 1899-12-31 format, the 00:00:00.00 may not be a part of the date, but rather some additional information in the middle of the string. Let me know if that's the case. If that's the case, then you can use this more simplified regex: `\b(?:[0-9]{4}\-[0-9]{2}\-[0-9]{2})\s*([0-9]{2}[:]?)\s+([0-9]{1,2}[.]?[0-9]{2})` See it here on Regexpr.
